FRIENDSHIP SCENE OF BRILLIANT FETE

Society Gathers in Gala Array for Country Fair in Aid of Diet Kitchen.

John R. McLean's beautiful estate, riendship, presented a brilliant, color-ul scene yesterday afternoon, when he most distinguished elemeat of washington society gathered in gala array for the Country Fair, given by the Washington Diet Kitchen Associ-

Pennies poured in until it appeared that they must have nearly reached the $6,000 necessary to keep the babies of Washington in proper food for the summer.

The popular appeal of this philanthropy the interesting, varied and unusual program arranged for the afternoon by men and women prominent in Washington's social life, who had the fete in charge, and the fact that Mr. McLean had placed the entire extent of its great gardens and lawns at the lisposal of his visitors combined to make he occasion notable, and even the weather proved propitious, though angry-clouds banked for a time on the horzon, and threatened to pour cold water in the assemblage.
